

Please leave wisconsin's very effective Do Not Call list law alone.
If a government's reason for being is to serve its individual constituencies; then my right to privacy in my own home should take absolute precedence over any perceived rights that the telemarketing industry has to invade that privacy.